BRITISH COLUMBIA ECONOMIC OVERVIEW

The data provided below describes the general condition of the BC economy at this time. The statistics used are the latest data available on each segment of the economy as at June 12, 2017.

The first quarter of 2017 indicated a 10.7% decrease in non-residential construction investment from one year earlier, with falling investment in all categories (industrial, commercial and institutional). Residential construction investment increased by 4.1% over the previous year. The first quarter of 2017 also saw year-over-year manufacturing shipments increase by 5.7%, wholesale sales increase by 10.6% and retail sales increase by 7.2%. Overall, the BC economy increased by 3.7% in 2016, driven by increases in retail sales, manufacturing and real estate. Growth between 2.4% and 3.2% is anticipated for 2017. Current events that may impact the province's economic performance include the likely NDP-Green coalition government, the renegotiation of NAFTA, the increase to the provincial minimum wage (effective September, 2017), the 15% property transfer tax on foreign purchasers of residential property in Metro Vancouver, the US government's proposed border adjustment tax on imported goods, the softwood lumber trade dispute with the US, the lower oil prices and value of the Canadian dollar, the high levels of consumer debt, Britain's beginning of the procedure to exit from the EU, continuing growth in the US economy, slowing growth in the Chinese economy, slow recovery in the European economy and continuing Greek debt crisis, and the global uncertainty caused by the conflicts in Ukraine and the Middle East.

BC Economic Trends

- Population: British Columbia is the westernmost province in Canada, strategically situated on the Pacific Rim, comprising 13% of Canada's total population and 10% of Canada's total land area. After Ontario and Quebec, it is the third most populous province, with 4,777,157 residents as of January 1, 2017, up 1.2% from January, 2016.
- Employment: As of June 1, 2017, 2,466,600 persons were employed in British Columbia, 62.1% of the working-age population. 80.3% of employed British Columbians work in the service-producing sector, including health care and education (19.1%), trade (14.9%), professional and technical services (7.7%) and accommodation and food (7.4%). 19.7% are employed in the goods-producing sector, including construction (9.1%), manufacturing (6.9%), forestry and mining (2.1%) and agriculture (1.1%). Approximately 22% of jobs in BC were part-time.

- Migration: In the fourth quarter of 2016, BC saw net immigration of 2,632 persons, driven by interprovincial migration and reduced by a seasonal decrease in non-permanent residents, although there was significantly lower non-permanent resident outflow in the fourth quarter of 2016 than one year previous. The largest net interprovincial inflow was from Alberta (1,913 persons).

BC Components of Population Change
	Inter-Provincial Immigrants	International Immigrants		Total Net Migration
2015 Total	21,471 (64%)	12,148 (36%)		33,619
5-yr Avg.	7,247 (20%)	29,388 (80%)		36,634
2016 Total	20,026 (38%)	32,912 (62%)		52,938
5-yr Avg.	11,110 (28%)	29,085 (72%)		40,194

- Tourism: In April, 2017, the RevPAR (revenue per available room) of BC hotels was $100.42, up 4.3% from 2016, while the RevPAR of Metro Vancouver hotels was $127.23, down 1.1% from 2016. BC hotel occupancy was 67.5% in April, up 1.6 percentage points from 2016, while Metro Vancouver hotel occupancy was 78.2%, down 0.1 percentage points from 2016. Overall in 2016, BC hotels averaged a RevPAR of $111.45 (up 10.6% from 2015) and an occupancy of 68.3% (up 2.4 percentage points from 2015), while Vancouver hotels achieved a RevPAR of $138.30 (up 11.5% from 2015) and an occupancy of 78.8% (up 2.9 percentage points from 2015). Per recent forecasts, Vancouver hotels are expected to average a RevPAR of $149 and occupancy of 79% in 2017. During the 2016 cruise season, Vancouver received 228 calls carrying 827,000 passengers, slightly ahead of 2015; the 2017 season is anticipated to see 237 calls carrying approximately 840,000 passengers.
- Trade: The total value of BC exports to all countries during April, 2017 was approximately $3.91 billion, up 32.4% from one year earlier. 2016 exports totalled $39.91 billion, 8.1% higher than in 2015; the annual average over the past five years has been $35.73 billion. British Columbia is more diversified than the nation as an exporter, given its West Coast proximity to major importing countries. While Canada sent some 76.4% of its exports to the US in 2016, only 53.2% of BC's exports went to the US. 15.8% of BC's exports in 2016 went to China, which is now BC's second largest export market. Port Metro Vancouver's tonnage volume in 2016 was approximately 136 million tonnes, a 1.8% decrease from 2015, driven by slowing global economic growth. CETA, the trade agreement between Canada and the EU, was signed in October, 2016, with provisional ratification anticipated in 2017. The Canadian Free Trade Agreement, an agreement to end interprovincial trade barriers, was signed in April, 2017 and is anticipated to add $2 billion to $4 billion to the national economy, despite nearly 150 product or sector exemptions from the agreement. In April, 2017, the US government imposed import duties of approximately 20% on Canadian softwood lumber exports to the US; these duties will also be applied retroactively for 90 days prior to imposition. As a reaction, in late May the federal government announced an $860 million aid package to the industry in the form of increased EI support to affected workers and loan guarantees and assistance to forestry firms to help with innovation and marketing.
- Retail: Retail sales in BC for March, 2017 totalled approximately $6.81 billion, up 12.2% from one year earlier. Retail sales totalled $74.93 billion in 2016, up 5.8% from 2015. Total retail sales have averaged $67.19 billion for the last five years.
- Interest Rates: In July, 2015, the Bank of Canada cut the overnight interest rate by 25 basis points, to 0.50%, as a reaction to sharply falling oil prices. Shortly afterward, financial institutions lowered the prime interest rate by 15 basis points, to 2.70%. The most competitive rate for a five-year fixed mortgage from the top five banks is currently 2.59%. Additionally, the two largest banks, RBC and TD Canada Trust, have increased rates by an additional ten basis points on mortgages with amortization periods over 25 years. In January, 2017, the CMHC announced an increase to mortgage insurance premiums effective mid-March, 2017, the third such increase in the past four years.

- Housing Starts: In the first quarter of 2017, both provincial and Vancouver CMA housing starts were down from the same quarter last year, but above the five-year average. Approximately 76% of the provincial housing starts and 83% of the Vancouver housing starts were multi-family units. Vancouver housing starts are expected to reach between 21,500 and 23,500 units in 2017, while provincial housing starts are expected to reach between 32,000 and 34,300 units in 2017.
